

Allied Molded Products Tour

As part of the Four County Career Center's Electrical career and technical education training, students recently visited Allied Molded Products in Bryan. The students toured the building and were able to see first-hand the aspects of industrial electricity and the every day operations of a local factory. Allied Molded Products also donated fiberglass residential electrical boxes to the Electrical program to aide with the teaching process for the students. Four County Career Center is very appreciative of the commitment of local industries to the training and education of their students.
