

FCCC & NWSCC Collaboration

The Job Training program at Four County Career Center has collaborated with Northwest State Community College to allow students who are eligible for job training and who have completed all their academic course work for graduation to utilize the College as a job site. The students attend the Career Center in a career and technical program half of the day and work with a Job Coach the other half day at the job site. Student Stewart Matthews (Bryan) (MIDDLE) is shown working at Northwest State Community College in food service preparation with Roberta Oberlin, Supervisor of Food Service (FRONT) and Career Center Job Coach, Lanie Fox (BACK). Stewart has since graduated from the program and is working full-time at Susie's Lunch in Bryan. Maria Barnes, Job Training Coordinator at the Career Center and Kathryn Soards, Chief Fiscal Officer at the College coordinated the program.
