

1st Place Winners

Four County Career Center is proud to announce that four students from the Software Design & Web Development program recently placed 1st in the University of Toledo's Information Systems Case competition last weekend. The contest required the students to use information from a database to develop a graphical digital dashboard for a business. The dashboard will then be used to provide at-a-glance statistical information to the business decision-makers. Shown above with their trophies are the contest winners (LEFT TO RIGHT) Jennifer Westrick (Hilltop); Carl Pippin III (Liberty Center); Collins Laws (Napoleon); and Nick Peio (Tinora).

Four County Career Center's Software Design & Web Development instructor is Matt Geiger. Students in this career program gain early exposure to the business, technology, and professional skills that apply to a broad range of technology and business careers, including software development, systems analysis, database administration, and management consulting.

